WATERS ROCKS THE WALL

Roger Waters brought his rock-opera spectacle The Wall to the MTS Centre for the first of two shows on Thursday. The sold-out crowd, a mix of young and old, got a treat for the senses as Waters played the entire Wall album while pyrotechnics and videos lit up the giant stage. Rogers will pay a second show at the MTS Centre Friday. DAVE BAXTER/FOR METRO

One great sports city

Honeymoon continues.
Winnipeg sports teams enjoying huge support

A year after the return of the Jets was made official, Winnipeg has embraced its pro sports teams like never before.

And now some are calling the 'Peg the best sports town in Canada.

The Blue Bombers have obliterated their previous season-ticket sales record before sales to the general public; the Goldeyes appear poised to have the best attendance in all of independent baseball

Crowd control

"When talking to the players, (everyone) said the crowd had an influence on the level of play."

Scott Brown, Jets director of corporate communications again this season; and the Jets are going to continue selling out games.

Scott Brown, the Jets' director of corporate communications, said that though there's no way of measuring the best sports city, he knows Winnipeg is feeling a lot of civic pride and its sports teams have a lot to do with it.

"There is so much pride and optimism in this city right now and the sports teams have a great deal to do with it," said Brown, adding that the crowds at MTS Centre single-handedly stole some wins for the Jets this season.

Bombers CEO Garth Buchko said interest in season-ticket sales for 2012 has surpassed even their expectations.

"The response has been unbelievable," said Buchko. "Every morning people are lined up at seven to buy season tickets."

Goldeyes GM Andrew Collier said there's no doubt Winnipeg is the best sports city in the nation.

"I would have said even before the Jets returned that we were the best sports city in the nation, and the Jets returning just took it to a whole new level," said Collier. "There is no comparison anywhere."

CITY GETS LOWE

MEG IN THE CITY

Can you believe it's June already? This is great because the fabulous, star-studded and prideful weekend has finally arrived! Can I get a "WOOP WOOP?!" Although I plan on catching my limit in pickerel, hopefully enough for a delicious fish-fry, there is a still a lot happening in the 'Peg this weekend ...

Close to home: Get your butt down to The Forks to help support local independent growers, and perhaps pick up a fresh peach pie while you're there. The farmers' market kicked off in the Plaza Parking lot on Wednesday and goes on all summer long.

Boldface alert: If you think you've spotted Parks and Recreation hunk Rob Lowe — who never seems to age — your eyes are not deceiving you. The Emmy-nominated leading man is in town to film The Casey Anthony Story for Lifetime Network. Lowe is also a producer on the project. The TV movie has just started principal photography so Lowe will be here for a few weeks. The former Brat Packer plays Casey Anthony's prosecutor, Jeff Ashton. If you spot Lowe about town, let me know ...

Take me out to the ball game: That's right, our baseball team is in full swing. The Winnipeg Goldeyes play tonight, tomorrow and even on Sunday. #GoGoldeyesGo.

Pride 25: The 25th annual Winnipeg Pride Festival kicked off last week but the best parties are still to come this weekend. On Sunday, the colourful and diverse parade begins at noon ... and the 10-day festival ends things off at The Forks with a dance party.

Buzz off. 'Peggers' actions could stop mosquito onslaught

Heavy rains over the last week could lead to a "large emergence" of nuisance mosquitoes this summer, according to Winnipeg's top bug swatter.

But city entomologist Taz Stuart says Winnipeggers can help change that dire prediction by simply dumping out any standing water on their properties.

"About 50 per cent of larval habitat in the city of Winnipeg and outside are on private-property sites that the city can't get to," he explained at a press conference Thursday. "We need you to dump, treat, fill, cover, anything that will remove the sites that produce those mosquitoes that we can't treat.

"The mosquitoes developing in your backyard are the ones that are most likely to bite you."

While city mosquito traps checked Wednesday had an average of just one mosquito, Stuart said that could change after somewhere between 85 to 130 millimetres of rain fell in the city over the past week.

Stuart said city crews are busy treating roughly 30,000 hectares of potential larval habitat in and around the city to reduce the number of mosquitoes expected to emerge in the next seven to 14 days.

Skeeters be gone

Winnipeggers can help fight the bite by:

- Dumping containers.
- Draining eavestroughing.
- Covering rainwater-collection containers.
- Filling in low-lying areas where water can collect.

Immigration office closing to walk-ins

Winnipeg's Citizenship and Immigration Centre is one of 16 across Canada that will stop offering personal service to walk-in clients starting Friday.

Anyone without an appointment at the office, located in the Johnston Terminal at The Forks, will be told to use the phone or Internet.

"Clients will still be seen (by appointment), but for general inquiries ... people will not have access to staff," said centre director John Nycek.

About 15 people show up at the centre without an appointment each day, he said.

"Our experience is people are taking time off from work to come and ask a fairly general question that could be answered (through the telephone call centre or website)," Nycek added.

Nycek conceded there "has been a lot of frustration, a lot of complaints" related to the call centre.

Winnipeg North MP Kevin Lamoureux, the Liberal immigration critic, said personal service helps prevent mistakes on immigration forms — mistakes that could result in deportation or denied visas. About 300 people show up at his office each month with immigration questions, he said, most needing help with forms.

Linda Lalande, executive director of the Immigrant Centre on Adelaide Street, said Lamoureux should send those people to her.

"That's what we do," she said, adding Winnipeg's CIC centre will likely send people to them after the June 1 policy change.

Suspect in body-parts case has fled Canada, police say

Details emerge.

Victim believed to be missing person police had been searching for

JOE LOFARO
Metro in Ottawa

Montreal police say crime scene evidence suggests a man suspected of dismembering a human body and mailing parts of it from Montreal to Ottawa has fled Canada.

The nationwide arrest warrant for Luka Rocco Magnotta, 29, was expanded Thursday after his photo and description appeared on Interpol's most-wanted list.

Montreal police Cmdr. Ian Lafrenière would not confirm or deny reports that Magnotta may have headed to Europe.

"We do have some evidence that we found on the scene and also that person left a note on a website (describing) how to leave without getting caught," said Lafrenière.

An article on DigitalJournal.com, titled "How to completely disappear and never be found" and penned by someone of the same name as Magnotta, explains how to leave without a trace using a six-step method.

"Cut personal ties with everyone who knows you," the article reads.

Meanwhile, police are trying to yank videos off of the Internet, which they believe show the suspect committing the murder and other perverse acts on the body.

Police are still investigating the video, but Lafrenière said they "have no reason to doubt its authenticity."

Police believe the victim is a man in his 30s reported missing several days ago, whose family lives overseas.

Chasing fame

Profilers believe suspect seeks attention

Experts in criminal behaviour say the suspect in the notorious body-parts case has a clear, desperate need: For you to pay attention to him.

One retired criminal profiler says Luka Rocco Magnotta appears to reveal that need on the Internet.

Jim Van Allen, a longtime Ontario Provincial Police criminal profiler, said Thursday that the elaborate cyber-trail he left behind shows a need for notoriety.

"I think you're dealing with a person who has a pathological need for attention," said Van Allen, a former police officer.

Van Allen said that while many details remain unknown, the extensive online postings — with pages of photos, writings on different topics and even a suspected video of the alleged murder, if produced by Magnotta — all indicate that desire.

"I think that he has tried to shock the public to gain notoriety for himself," Van Allen said.

"And he's certainly done that."

Experts in criminal behaviour are paying close attention to the case for clues about the suspected killer's profile.

Montreal criminal psychiatrist Benoit Dassylyva says it's possible Magnotta is somewhere monitoring all the attention thrust upon him, and soaking it up.

Quebec tuition talks suspended

An attempt to find a solution to the Quebec student crisis has fallen apart, opening up a vast range of potential implications that could be felt from the street to the ballot box.

After four days of negotiation, the provincial government and student groups announced Thursday that their talks had gone nowhere.

There had been speculation that if this latest attempt at negotiation failed, the provincial government might call a snap election and ask Quebec voters to help settle a dispute that has made international news.

Premier Jean Charest said that day will indeed come —

but he downplayed its imminence. The government is into the fourth year of its mandate and must head to the polls by late 2013.

"Ultimately there will be an election within 18 months," Charest told reporters. "It will happen in a democratic context that will allow us to state our case on these issues."

In the meantime, both the government and student groups said they were willing to speak again if the other side was ready to make an offer.

The students had issued a mild threat to walk away from the negotiating table early in the day Thursday. But it was Education Minister Michelle Courchesne who announced talks had been suspended because of what she described as an "impasse." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Watercraft-maker preparing to move assembly to Mexico

Quebec. 500 employees of the Valcourt plant will be affected when the company moves over the next 18 to 36 months

Bombardier Recreational Products Inc. says 500 Quebec employees will be affected by a decision to switch watercraft assembly to Mexico.

The move will take place over the next 18 to 36 months, the company said in a statement released Thursday.

The 500 employees affected at the Valcourt plant will be presented with options including retirement packages or positions within or outside of the company.

The privately held company said existing production capacity in Mexico will be expanded by transferring engines currently being manufactured in Juarez to a new plant.

The new facility is where the assembly of the watercraft will take place.

"Building a global multi-market business is an ongoing process," company president Jose Boisjoli said in the statement.

"To remain a market leader, BRP needs to constantly challenge itself and adapt to change. This is not the first time that we change things at BRP, nor will it be the last.

"While we remain very much committed to our heritage and roots in Valcourt, we must become more flexible to leverage our growth opportunities."

Bombardier Recreational Products will also assign North American distribution of its parts, accessories and clothing to a logistics provider.

- The company said the moves will enable it to become more competitive and free up space on the main assembly line in Valcourt, Que., to increase production of its "roadster-type" vehicles.

The world is having a very stressful week. All kinds of nerve-racking stuff going on, starting with:

1

Mr. Dahmer goes to Ottawa? Gay-porn star Luka Rocco Magnotta allegedly tortures kittens, slices up a naked man and sends the body parts in the mail to various places, including Parliament Hill. Yikes.

2

National shame. It's another Stanley Cup and, once again, no Canadian teams are involved. So, as we stand with our noses pressed to the glass, we ask: Who is Canada's team? The Los Angeles Kings or the New Jersey Devils?

Like, oops. On network TV, Kathie Lee Gifford congratulates Martin Short for his long, happy marriage. The only problem is, his wife died two years ago. Then she apologizes on Twitter, albeit to the wrong Twitter handle.

4

What's your kid doing today? A 16-year-old kid in Germany has solved a 300-year-old math puzzle that stumped Isaac Newton and everyone else since. Thanks to Shouryya Ray, there is now a way to calculate the path of a projectile under gravity and subject to air resistance. Well, it kept me up at night.

God saves the Queen, in perpetuity. Her Majesty's a pretty nice woman, and she'll be floating down the Thames in a barge on Sunday to mark the 60th year of her reign over us. No word on whether the corgis will follow in the royal dinghy.

6

Hair-brained theme. Donald Trump won't let it go. He still says Barack Obama wasn't born in the U.S., even though the president has released his detailed Hawaiian birth certificate. The question remains: What planet is The Donald from? And why doesn't it have decent barbers?

7

Speaking of outer space. The first private space flight is a success as the SpaceX Dragon splashes down in the Pacific. Next mission: Send The Donald back to Mars.

8

A New York-nanny state of mind. N.Y.C. Mayor Michael Bloomberg wants to ban any sugary drinks over 16 ounces across the five boroughs, because they're bad for you. Using that logic, he should ban Donald Trump. He's fired.

This just in: The European Union appears to be crumbling before our eyes. Spain, Italy, Greece and Ireland are seriously considering abandoning the euro and restoring the peseta, lira, drachma and punt, respectively. The Irish, at least, have it right.

Um, excuse me, Donald, do you have a birth certificate for that growth on your head? Looks like it might be extraterrestrial. GETTY IMAGES

Matador (El Juli) on the horns

This was a scary moment for one of Spain's most celebrated bullfighters. After losing consciousness, Lopez returned to finish the fight and was carried off at the finish by spectators.

Lopez, 29, has had a remarkable career. He was training with bulls at the age of nine and fought in Mexico at 14 to avoid Spain's law against underage matadors. Kristen Stewart is more tomboy than fierce rebel queen in Snow White and the Huntsman. HANDOUT

Famous fairy tale goes goth

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Snow White and The Huntsman. Charlize Theron's shrieking performance usurps Kristen Stewart's turn as Snow White Richard: Chris, this movie plays like the love child of the Grimm Brothers and The Hobbit. It is dark in tone and in look with just a few hi ho's provided by the Seven Dwarfs. That'll be my last bad Snow White joke, I promise. The first hour is a gothic fairy tale, the second hour more an action movie, but through it all Theron's bug-eyed Grand Guignol performance remains constant. Was she too over the top, or just over the top?

Chris: One scream of rage would have been over the top. By the time she turned into a melting puddle of dying, tar-soaked crows, I realized that both the dark tone of the film and Charlize's shrieking vampire queen performance were more Hammer Horror than Walt Disney... and I was in deep, of course. But what did you think of Stewart's Snow White?

RC: K Stew is the movie's big draw, marquee wise, and while she holds down the fort, I found that unless she was on horseback, or staring down a troll, I wasn't that interested in her performance. The talky bits aren't nearly as interesting as the yelling bits (thanks to Charlize's unhinged performance) or the action sequences. Unfortunately, she is saddled with most of the dialogue, and it is the last interesting thing about the movie.

CA: Stewart was a fantastic Joan Jett. Not so much earth goddess/warrior queen but whatever, I forgave her slight, tomboyish presence when so many operatic visuals were ex-

Synopsis

In this twist on a familiar fairy tale, Charlize Theron is Ravenna, an evil queen so obsessed with being the fairest in the land she condemns the dead king's lovely daughter, Snow White (Kristen Stewart), to a lifetime of solitude and captivity. When the queen's mirror tells her that Ms. White will one day reclaim the throne, Ravenna does what any evil monarch would do. She decides to eat Snow's still beating heart, thereby ensuring immortality and the throne. Chris Alexander sits in for Mark Breslin this week.

ploding around her. Strangely, however, I found that some of my favourite moments in the film were the quiet ones; the sequences of technicolour fairy forests and character moments where — alarmingly — you actually empathized with Theron's soul-sucking monster. What do you think Stewart's TWI-hard fanbase will think?

RC: She couldn't muster the fanpires for The Runaways but this time around will be different, I think. Her version of Snow White has much in common with the elements that appeal to the Twilight fans. There's no werewolves or vampires, but there is true love, fantasy and even the sweeping crane landscape shots are reminiscent of her best-known films.

CA: Well, she certainly has a better shot at pleasing her fanbase with this lush gothic fantasy than her sparkly paramour Pattinson does getting a five-minute prostate exam in Cronenberg's Cosmopolis, that's for sure... but we'll save that for another day.

Starbuck creators win prize

The two creators of Quebec's fertility comedy Starbuck have each won a $20,000 prize from Telefilm Canada. On Wednesday, director Ken Scott and his co-writer Martin Petit landed the 2011 Guichet d'Or award. The annual honour goes to the Canuck director and writer of a Canadian French-language feature film with the highest-grossing domestic box-office sales during the previous year. In 2011, Starbuck took in more than $3.5 million at the Canadian box office, according to Telefilm Canada. Steven Spielberg's DreamWorks Studios announced last month it's revamping the franco-phone film with a new script set in New York.

Comedy/Horror

Piranha 3DD

Director. John Gulager

Stars. Danielle Panabaker,
David Hasselhoff, Matt Bush

To be honest, Piranha 3DD doesn't take itself very seriously. And so I won't be excoriating some disparaging critical diagnosis or justifying any hopeful merit (for the record there are no merits). Just know that when the producers pitched this low-brow money-grab about a waterpark overrun with flesh-eating fish (need I say more?), they likely only had three words for potential investors: blood, boobs and 3D.

STEVE GOW

Comedy

Hysteria

Director. Tanya Wexler

Stars. Maggie Gyllenhaal, Hugh
Dancy, Jonathan Pryce

Set in nineteenth century London, Hysteria is a rom com about Mortimer Granville (Hugh Dancy), a young handsome doctor whose hand cramps led directly to the invention of the vibrator. As social commentary it's lightweight, and a movie about the invention of the tool that revolutionized sexuality should focus on that and not the predictable rom com love triangle. I expected more than a comedy of manners with an off-colour edge from the story. As such, this is a rental, not a night out.

RICHARD CROUSE

Drama

Sound of my Voice

Director. Zat Batmanglij

Stars. Brit Marling, Christopher
Denham

There's an original, unsettling film inside of Sound of My Voice, which orbits an ethereal cult leader (co-writer Brit Marling) who claims to be from the future. The idea of basing a drama around a charismatic, potentially insane figure is compelling but the film is at once overly convoluted and noticeably thin — its supposedly stunning twists feel tacked on and arbitrary. It's a low-fi science fiction fable that never finds a higher gear.

Interpretation. Professor offers his opinions on some popular tales

Professor Jack Zipes, author of several books on the topic of fairy tales, including this year's release of The Irresistible Fairy Tale, explains the social issues raised by these stories.

Little Red Ridinghood: "This story raises the issue of rape and violation of a young woman. It raises the question of, who is responsible for the rape when it happens and how can women protect themselves or do they really want to be raped?"

Cinderella: "How do parents treat non-biological children? That question of course is still with us today."

Hansel and Gretel: "Here we have the issue of child abuse, child abandonment."

Beauty and the Beast: "Forcing or compelling a young woman ... into marrying the man who is 30 or 40 years older."

When it comes to Prometheus, Ridley Scott fights the geek fight

Prop war. Director talks about arguing over the specifics of space helmets and shoe laces for sci-fi horror flick

NED
Metro World News in Hollywood

You would think that a director of Ridley Scott's stature would find it easier to get what he wants, especially when he's returning to his sci-fi horror roots with Prometheus. But you'd be wrong. As details of the technology within the film's story began to take shape, Scott admits he found himself going to the mat on more than one occasion.

"You think about everything, down to the shoe laces," Scott says. "We even had a big argument about the globular helmets. I was certain that I wanted the fully spherical glass helmet. If I'm in 2083 and I'm going into space, why would I design a helmet that has blind spots?"

And androids, by then, will apparently be indistinguishable from humans. But Scott, who's no stranger to androids thanks to the original Alien, wanted to approach the subject with care. "What was important was the story. There's nothing new about an android. That idea is 100 years old," he says, explaining how this film's android, played by Michael Fassbender, is deployed. "So then, embrace what it is.

By embracing it, he becomes that much more interesting because he isn't just part of the ship. He also becomes extremely useful during the story, as it evolves."

Getting technical

Fassbender on androids

A major component of the Alien universe — and of the viral marketing campaign leading up to Prometheus — are the incredibly lifelike android characters. This time out, X-Men: First Class star Michael Fassbender takes on the job as David, which he found to be an interesting challenge. "You want to play with as many of those human traits as possible. You're essentially trying to build a computer that has a physicality to it," he says.

Summer movies take over

We've made it through a dismal spring loaded with murderous teens, a massive John Carter flop and dreary vampires. Now it's time to enjoy the blockbusters that, we hope, are guaranteed to please.

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro News

The first half of the year is a notorious dumping ground for studio stinkers — save The Hunger Games, of course. We've suffered enough!

The Avengers was just a tasting of the treats in store over the next three months as things heat up.

First, we take a look at some of the most hotly anticipated films that we've been dying to see since well before the New Year.

June 8: Prometheus

We like to talk about Michael Fassbender quite a bit in this paper because he really is just that awesome. But the main attraction for the film in which he stars as Android David is much larger than just one actor. This highly anticipated film helmed by Alien director Ridley Scott shows what happens when humans in the future travel to a foreign planet to discover their origins.

June 22: Abraham Lincoln: Vampire Hunter

We're not sure how much a camp factor will come into play with this wacky idea of a film, considering serious Broadway veteran Benjamin Walker will play President Lincoln. But the plot summary really is that Abraham Lincoln decides to vanquish those vampires once he realizes they are planning to take over the U.S., so your guess is as good as ours.

July 3: The Amazing Spider-Man

Even though there have been a bazillion iterations of Spidey in the last several years, everyone's dying to get a look at this one, portrayed by The Social Network's Andrew Garfield and co-starring his real-life girlfriend Emma Stone as Gwen Stacy.

July 20: The Dark Knight Rises

The final installation of Christopher Nolan's brilliant imagining of Batman has a few tricks up its sleeve, if the spooky trailer is any indication. Tom Hardy is Bane, one of the nastiest villains the Dark Knight has ever encountered. And then there's Anne Hathaway slinking around as the seductively dangerous Selina Kyle.

August 3: The Bourne Legacy

Can Jeremy Renner fill the shoes of Matt Damon in the Bourne series? Starring as Aaron Cross, Renner's first major starring role has a man who must deal with the consequences of Jason Bourne's actions from where The Bourne Ultimatum left off.

Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon star accused of prostitution

Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon star Zhang Ziyi has been accused of earning $110 million by prostituting herself to Chinese government officials and businessmen, according to the Daily Mail. The unsubstantiated claims in Chinese media detail the actress accepting large sums of money from various Beijing officials between 2007 and 2011, with one businessman reportedly forking over $945,000 to sleep with her in 2007. Ziyi has fervently denied the allegations.

Je t'aime: Sparks fly for Mary-Kate Olsen and former French president's brother

Mary-Kate Olsen is reportedly dating former French president Nicolas Sarkozy's younger brother, Olivier Sarkozy, according to Us Weekly. "It's true, they're dating, and she's definitely interested in him," a source says. "MK is constantly complaining about boys not being mature enough for her. She got the kids out of her system. Now being a businesswoman dominates her time, and she is rarely impressed with guys. They are good for each other."

Exes Rihanna and Drake, who dated briefly in 2009, may be giving things another go, if their behaviour at a Miami hotspot on a recent night out is any indication. "Rihanna was all over Drake this weekend," a source tells Us Weekly. "They were holding hands and dancing all close on the dance floor." The pair have remained close friends and frequent collaborators since their brief romance. "We weren't really sure what it was," Rihanna previously said in an interview of her dating Drake. "We didn't want to take it any further. It was a really fragile time in my life..."

Cooking up a new app

Mennonite cooking goes high tech

Old Order Mennonite cooking meets modern technology with a new app of Edna Staebler's Food That Really Schmecks cookbook. New material on the app includes photos and videos of Staebler and the Waterloo Region countryside. Recipes are searchable and users can upload photos and recipe suggestions that will be shared with all users — just like your grandmother's scribbles in the margins of the family cookbook.

Fire up the grill for easy summer veggies

Grilled Vegetable Napoleons. Lazy summer days are too precious to waste in front of a hot stove

1. Preheat barbecue and set on low. Brush vegetables with olive oil, season with salt and pepper, and grill slowly until tender, turning once.

2. Transfer vegetables to a tray, arranging them in a single layer, and cover tightly with plastic wrap. The vegetables may be grilled a day in advance and refrigerated after cooling. Bring the vegetables back to room temperature before proceeding.

3. Stir together the ricotta, thyme, salt and pepper in a small bowl. Place one slice of eggplant on a lightly oiled grill sheet or foil pan. Spread 1 tablespoon of the ricotta mixture over the eggplant. Cover with 2 slices of zucchini, 1 slice of onion, 1 slice of mozzarella, 1 slice of tomato, 2 slices of zucchini and 1 slice of onion. Spread 1 tablespoon of the ricotta mixture over the onion and top with another slice of eggplant.

Repeat this procedure with the remaining vegetables to make 5 more stacks.

4. Insert a wooden skewer through the centre of each stack to create a hole from top to bottom. Remove the bottom leaves from each rosemary sprig, leaving one inch of leaves on the top. Insert 1 sprig into the centre hole in each napoleon and return to the barbecue.

5. Heat for about 10 minutes on low, or until mozzarella is melted and vegetables are warmed through.

Ingredients

- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 large eggplant, cut in 12 slices (1/3" thick)
- 3 medium zucchinis, cut in 24 slices (1/4" thick)
- 3 large tomatoes, cut in 6 slices (1/3" thick)
- 3 medium red onions, cut in 12 slices (1/3" thick)
- 3/4 cup ricotta cheese
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 tsp fresh thyme, chopped
- 1/2 lb mozzarella cheese, sliced 1/4" thick
- 6 sprigs fresh rosemary

Beer and iced tea?

LIQUID ASSETS

Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.ca

I've never been one to mess with a good thing, especially when it comes to booze. So for me the blend of hops, yeast, water and grain that defines beer is pretty much perfection.

And while the description of beer includes dozens upon dozens of different varieties that come by their taste profiles naturally, the trend toward flavoured brews is taking the industry by storm.

Beer needs them. Sales have seen better days, and industry innovation seems inspired by 1812 rather than 2012, with old school English-style ales the darlings of the aficionado set.

That's what's fun about Coors Light Iced T (12 x 355 ml, $20.31 - $24.99). On the surface it sounds like a mad attempt to attract a summertime audience with a Franken-blend of two totally foreign liquids.

The good news is that in the glass it tastes just like iced tea without losing the subtle malty expression of the suds — and it's a light beer.

This is the first time the Coors Light brand has been extended outside its singular universe and the pitch hits a solid home run.

Bittman teaches us The Basics

Mark Bittman. HANDOUT

Classic recipes. Food journalist's latest release is a refresher for seasoned cooks and a bible for newbies in the kitchen

TINA CHADHA
Metro World News in New York

Unlike other cookbooks that sit pretty on your living room bookshelf, Mark Bittman's newest release, How to Cook Everything The Basics: All You Need to Make Great Food, stays in the kitchen.

The book — a collection of 185 classic recipes along with instructions for fundamental techniques — is a refresher for seasoned cooks and a confidence-boosting bible for newbies in the kitchen. With 1,000 step-by-step photographs, it's the next best thing to having mom watch over you as you boil a pot of pasta for the first time.

Why did you want to publish The Basics?

It goes back 12 years, actually, to the publication of the original How to Cook Everything, when there were three complaints. One — which is very amusing — is it doesn't have a recipe for chicken pot pie. Then the more serious complaints were that it was overwhelming and some beginners did not like it.

What's your game plan when grocery shopping?

I go to the produce section and buy everything that looks good. And then I keep a really well stocked pantry.

I want people to say, 'I'm going to the store to buy what looks good, and then I'm going to come home and there's a cookbook I can look at that's going to tell me what to do with the stuff I just bought.' And that's How to Cook Everything. And hopefully Mark Bittman tells you what to do with it.

What do you say to people who are afraid to cook?

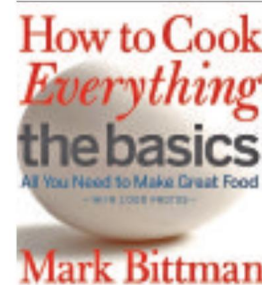

People are afraid to drive also, but everyone eventually gets in a car and drives.

No one drives well the first time. And very few people are going to cook well the first time. It means you need to be willing to make mistakes, and there's a level of maturity that indicates. You have to say, 'I have to go through a learning curve on this.'

What appliances do you recommend for small spaces?

An appliance that I think is worth getting is a food processor, because I think it's really useful.

Blenders are less important, but are nice to have. I think little gadgets are much more important: a set of three or four really good knives, a good vegetable peeler, a cheap mandoline, and a grater, like a microplane, for Parmesan. I don't have much more than that.

Celebrating Pride for love of community (and love of money)

Business. From sponsoring the event to launching Pride-related promotions, having your company participate just makes sense — and dollars

MARK SCHOLLENBERG
For Metro Winnipeg

In 2010, Pride Toronto had an impact of $136 million and created 600 jobs.

Pride Winnipeg has not yet studied its economic impact in our city. But we do know that last year more than 15,000 attended the Pride Festival at the Forks, and hundreds of those were from out of town.

And any event that brings external dollars into the Winnipeg economy is a good thing.

This year's Pride Week is expected to draw an even bigger crowd and many more out-of-town revellers are expected to come help us celebrate our 25th anniversary.

So, what is your business doing to leverage the excitement (and economics) of Pride?

Whether you call the shots or simply make the coffee, here are some ways that you can get your workplace more involved in Pride.

The most direct way to get involved is to become a financial sponsor of Pride Winnipeg. Pride sponsors can benefit from exclusivity (being the only hotel sponsor) and a premium exposure (like TD had in 2011).

Representatives of the Chocolate Zen Bakery and High Tea bakery served cake and cookies during Winnipeg Pride's flag-raising on Friday, May 25. The event, which featured Mayor Sam Katz and Pride Committee chair Barb Burkowski, kicked off the 2012 edition of the festival, celebrating its 25th anniversary and the 10th flag-raising ceremony. BERNICE PONTANILLA/METRO

This exposure at the festival and the events leading up to it can go a long way to getting your brand noticed.

This year, Pride Week events are expected to draw more than 30,000 attendees.

Another option is to provide in-kind support to Pride events. Pride engages all types of vendors to put on the 15-plus events of Pride Week.

This year's Pride Festival will continue to showcase local LGBT-friendly businesses at PrideMART. PrideMART has been an integral part of the festival for years.

This is where local busi-

By the numbers:

nesses can show off their pride (and their merchandise) to the crowds at the fest.

Last year PrideMART showcased more than 40 businesses and organizations that are dedicated to serving Winnipeg's LGBT community.

Many businesses offer special promotions or products around this time of year geared towards the LGBT community. The Delta hotel usually offers special rates during Pride.

And do you remember the rainbow-coloured roses sold by Family Florists & Handicrafts? Think about some promotions that your business could offer.

And one thing that every business should do is: decorate and be proud. Pick up a few rainbow flags, some colourful beads, and maybe a feather boa.

Celebrating Pride in your workplace helps to build employee morale and boost productivity. It also sends a powerful message to your customers (and vendors) that you care about your community.

I look forward to seeing your business at this year's Pride festivities!

'Peg's Satina Loren to represent at drag national contest

Canada's Next Drag Superstar. Kerry Dale says drag is his artistic expression and can't wait for the chance to compete for $2,500

BERNICE PONTANILLA
bernice.pontanilla@metronews.ca

Winnipeg Pride is celebrating its 25th milestone with a competition that promises to be hot, fierce and bring a little Las Vegas to the Prairies.

The inaugural Canada's Next Drag Superstar Competition is being held Friday, June 1, at Fame Nightclub with six competitors from across the country, who all won local contests in order to make the cut for the Canada title.

Winnipeg's representative said he could not be more honored, proud and happy to represent the city.

"Drag is my way of artistic expression, it's a way of letting all of your inner inhibitions go," said Kerry Dale, 21, who cannot wait to strut his stuff onstage as Satina Loren.

"I've bought everything I possibly can that I think I might need," he added with a laugh.

Dale said he has been re-mixing music, practicing his costume changes, getting his wigs ready for the hairdressers on his team, and going through his routines over and over again.

"Here, it's a very expensive hobby," said Dale, adding that he'd love to break into the U.S. drag queen industry, which is much, much bigger than Canada's.

This competition, said Dale, "is about recognizing us (in Canada) and attaining a level that we haven't before."

"I'm hoping it opens a door," said Dale, who was valedictorian at College Jeanne Sauve in 2009.

"Sometimes the most talented people are in the places you wouldn't look."

Beverly Claeys, senior general manager of Fame Nightclub, came up with the idea for the national competition after hearing about all of the individual contests held in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Saskatoon, Vancouver and, of course, Winnipeg.

"It will be a night of glitter, glamour, feathers, lipstick and lots of hair so prepare yourself to be entertained," said Claeys.

"There's a lot of hype in Winnipeg about it and actually all across Canada with the queens involved ... It'll be a little Las Vegas in Winnipeg."

Claeys said the competition involves two performance numbers each by the competitors and then a final catwalk where "they have to be a hero or a villain, it could be Superman or the Joker, etc, it's their choice."

The grand prize for the winner is $2,500 cash and each contestant gets a gift basket from the Love Nest. "And bragging rights, of course," said Claeys.

"It can only get bigger from here. Whether Fame is a big enough venue for next year — it might not be but we'll still host it!"

Canada's Next Drag Superstar Competition is also being filmed for OutTV.

"Although Canadian drag queens can't compete in RuPaul's Drag Race, we know we have some of the fiercest, most talented drag queens around," said Blue Satittamanoon, director of marketing for OutTV.

"We are very excited Fame Nightclub is hosting the first ever Canada's Next Drag Superstar Competition during Winnipeg Pride.

"These queens are some of the best drag talents in the country. It's going to be a great show and OutTV is proud to be a part of this memorable event."

The perfect con-cox-tion

Q & A. Sofonda Cox, one of Canada's top drag performers, talks what clothes make the man, tucking, and the importance of remembering to smize

JEFRE NICHOLLS
For Out Winnipeg

Beyonce, Britney and Tyra Banks have nothing on Sofonda Cox, mostly because she's been all of them tucked into one.

Miss Cox knows all too well the importance of dressing for the occasion. A staple in the Toronto Pride parade, she knows how to assemble effortless ensembles with nothing more than some feathers, electrical tape and a glue gun. Most of us however lack the centre-stage lighting, back-up dancer boys and pop and lock to pull out all the stops when it comes to dressing for pride.

For the secrets behind one of Canada's top kneeling ladies of drag stage and sound we headed direct to the source.

With Pride just around the corner and a pub crawl of parties to attend — the fashionista of the float whose name is more often synonymous with men taking their clothes off, sat down with us to dish on what putting on the perfect Pride outfit is all about.

When we first met back in 2002 you had just come backstage covered head to toe in body paint from re-enacting the Indian Goddess scene from Smize!

"Work your look but as always, Tyra says never forget to smize — smile with your eyes!"

Sofonda Cox's secret tip on looking your best.

Tomb Raider, where you flew over a crowd of four to 5,000, talk about a look!

Oh s—, yeah — that was my favourite performance, maybe ever. It was for a party called UNITY, held at the CNE — Canadian National Exhibition. It was one of my biggest performances where I got to fly over the crowd in a harness, pyrotechnics were going off everywhere and I was fully painted from head to my tippy toes in blue paint. The adrenalin I felt was unexplainable.

When putting together your outfit what is the most important part?

When putting an outfit together, the most important part is that you feel good in it. Feeling good and confident makes all the difference in the world. In my case, loose fitting clothes, flowy skirts are a bonus. It just means I don't have to tuck. (laughs)

What's more important at Pride, an outfit that's sexy, comfortable or shows how much pride you have?

What's more important is that you are comfortable of course. I'm the kind of girl that shows her personality better when I feel good and comfy. But of course the outfit has to always be tasteful. I'd rather carry the flag rather than wear a rainbow.

What three things do you notice about a guy's outfit?

Hmm, that's tricky. Honestly, the three things I notice about a guy's outfit would be how his pants fit on his butt. I have a butt fetish (laughs). I love them. The footwear says a lot about the person and lastly the overall look of his clothes. The style, creativity leaves a lasting impression.

What do you want to see guys turn out when it comes to their pride outfits this year?

I would love to see guys turning themselves out everyday when it comes to their outfit. If we have to do a Pride outfit, turn out the use of colour — bright neon, colours that pop etc. not rainbow. And if they have hair. Style it. Give me Hunger Games Chic!

What has been the craziest thing you've had to wear for a Pride performance?

The craziest thing I've had to wear for a Pride performance was a 12-foot lavender ostrich skirt that opened 20-feet wide, complete with hot male dancers underneath. It was astonishing!

Any secret tips or tricks to finish off your Pride look?

Smize! Baby. Work your look but as always, Tyra says never forget to smize — smile with your eyes! You never know when someone could be taking your picture!

Manitoba Queer history gets outed

Annual. Province's Gay and Lesbian Archives can be seen online, in time for the festival

A selection of the Manitoba Gay and Lesbian Archives has been digitized and is now online, an official launch and viewing will also happen during this year's Pride Winnipeg Festival.

The collection was originally accumulated by the Winnipeg Gay and Lesbian Resource Centre, which became the Rainbow Resource Centre in 1999.

"The formation of the Manitoba Gay and Lesbian Archives is a symbolic culmination of individuals and organizations recording people's history," says Shelley Sweeney, head, archives and special collections.

"Through this active approach to preservation and self-awareness, an outstanding body of knowledge exists today on the life, literature, art, philosophy and history of the Winnipeg LGBTQ community dating back to the 1940s."

Where to view:

- Check out the collection during the 25th annual Pride Winnipeg Festival at The Forks June 3, or online at umanitoba.ca

The collection includes textual records, 69 videocassettes, 117 photos, 107 negatives, 488 slides, 130 audiotapes and 15 reel-to-reel tapes, and was donated to the University of Manitoba Libraries in 2008. METRO

Red Wings' Lidstrom walks away from game

Nicklas Lidstrom is so used to being great that the star defenceman refused to settle for just being good.

Lidstrom, 42, retired after 20 quietly spectacular seasons with the Detroit Red Wings, leaving a legacy of greatness on and off the ice along with perhaps another $6 million US he could have made with a third-straight one-year contract.

The four-time Stanley Cup champion and seven-time Norris Trophy winner fought back tears as he made the announcement Thursday. He said he knew it was time to end his career when he started to work out recently.

Wide receiver contest at Bombers rookie camp

CFL. Nine players compete for one roster spot left open by departure of Greg Carr

There's no shortage of players trying out for a receiver's slot on the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Nine players, seven of whom are American, are competing for the spot at rookie camp.

"It was extremely crowded yes," said American Chris Matthews with a laugh.

Matthews, who at six-foot-five weighs in at 220 pounds and still manages to look skinny, has already caught the eye of coach Paul LaPolice, who wants a receiving corps with a good blend of height and a few "little fast guys."

The hole he has to fill was created when Edmonton swiped free agent Greg Carr from the Bombers in February.

LaPolice likes the way the new height on his roster moved on Day 2 of rookie camp at Canad Inns Stadium, where the Bombers must play until their new field is finished in September.

"They can change direction very well. I was impressed with that," he said. "Matthews has got some fluidity for a big kid, all of them actually do. We'll engross them in the system and see how they play." While he may have only one hole to fill, LaPolice said he could keep another two players around.

"Last year we kept one receiver on the reserve and we kept one on the practice roster as well, so there's a possibility of three new American faces staying here."

There are also two Canadian wide receivers in camp, Saskatoon's Rory Kohlert and Cassidy Doneff of Cochrane, Alta.

At six-foot-six and 215 pounds, Doug Pierce out of Friends University in Kansas also made some impressive moves on the crowded field and stirs thoughts of a Pierce-to-Pierce offence, since he carries the same name as No. 1 Winnipeg pivot Buck Pierce.

Six-foot-five Kurt Adams out of Harding is making a return trip after spending part of last year on Winnipeg's practice roster.

Matthews, a 22-year-old native of Long Beach, Calif., said American kids pick up their football moves pretty early.

"From 10 or 12 years old you're going out there, you're learning the plays, you're learning your stance and starts, you're learning to do certain things that help you to be a really good wide receiver."

"He continued to have great success, but for different reasons. He didn't just overpower teams; he out-smarted teams.... He wasn't as domineering as he was earlier."

Former Astros manager Phil Garner's testimony during the Rogers Clemens perjury trial on Thursday. Garner told one great story after another. Clemens working out in a flak jacket with 60 pounds of weights. Clemens yelling at himself. Clemens yelling at others. Clemens noticing that home plate was a little bit out of line. No stories involved Clemens using performance-enhancing drugs.

Goldeyes complete sweep against Sox

The Goldeyes celebrate their 10th-inning victory on Thursday.
CONTRIBUTED/WINNIPEG GOLDEYES

The Winnipeg Goldeyes completed a three-game sweep of the Amarillo Sox with a 3-2 extra-inning victory on Thursday in front of 6,017, including thousands of elementary school students missing school for a day at the ball park as part of the Goldeyes' "Student Day."

The Goldeyes went up 1-0 in the third inning when Amos Ramon scored the first run of the game from third base, after Price Kendall got caught in a rundown between first and second base, allowing Ramon to make it to home.

The Goldeyes extended their lead to 2-0 in the sixth inning when Chris Roberson scored from third on a sacrifice fly by Yurendell de Caster.

The Sox came back to tie the game in the seventh. Jason White made it 2-1 on an RBI single, scoring Sox designated hitter Chuck Lofgren, and Van Pope tied the game by smacking a one-run homer to left field.

The game went into extra innings and the Goldeyes took the victory when David Narodowski got home in the bottom of the 10th on a wild pitch by Andrew Bowman.

The Goldeyes now sit at 9-3 on the season while Amarillo falls to 6-7. Goldeyes pitcher Chris Kaminsky got the victory while Bowman took the loss for the Sox.

Horoscope

- Aries | March 21 - April 20.
You will surprise people today with your reasonable behaviour.
- Taurus | April 21 - May 21.
Focus on what you enjoy and don't worry about whether it is an efficient use of your time and energy.
- Gemini | May 22 - June 20.
With both Venus and Mercury moving through your sign you will know instinctively what is the right thing to do.
- Cancer | June 21 - July 22.
You have so much to look forward to. So why the glum face? By the middle of next week you'll be smiling again.
- Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. Rela-

- tionships will be a lot of fun over the next few days.
- Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.
You will charm everyone you meet today – and if you meet important people such as employers and senior colleagues you could even earn yourself a pay rise or a promotion, or both.
- Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. You only have to put a name to your desires to see them fulfilled.
- Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.
A positive link between mind planet Mercury and Venus, planet of harmony, will bring a respite from your worries and woes.
- Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. Relationships will be pleasant

- today, which is a huge relief after the ups and downs of recent weeks.
- Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 20. If you are having problems, don't suffer in silence: let those around you know you need assistance.
- Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb. 18.
Use your powers of communication to let others know why you are unhappy with certain situations. But don't talk down to them or blame them for the mess.
- Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.
Set aside a fixed time for your work and a fixed time for having fun. It does not have to be one or the other: if you plan things sensibly you can have your cake and eat it too.
